JUNIORS PRESENT A CLEVER CLASS PLAY

"Bashful Mr. Bobbs" Proves Vehicle by Which Amateur Actors Make Hit With Crowd.
"Bashful Mr. Bobbs," presented in the high school auditorium Friday evening by members of the junior class, was a clever play, well presented. Henry Plahn and Miss Eulalia Alspach took the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Henderson, a young husband and wife, who had living with them, Miss Jean Graham, played by Miss Helen Blake. They were spending a few days in a boarding house, awaiting the arrival of Marston Bobbs, who was engaged to marry Jean. The part was ably played by Herman Otto. Robert V. Bobbs, bashful Mr. Bobbs, was played by Donald Robb. The two young men were cousins.

When Marston Bobbs failed to arrive at the scheduled time they were about to return to their country home when the cousin, bashful Mr. Bobbs, arrived. All sorts of complications now arose and he was suspected of being a burglar. Finally the expected Mr. Bobbs arrived. The engaged Mr. Bobbs had had a flirtation with Celesta Vanderpool, of the movies. Miss Marjorie Hanby, who with her French maid, Julie, of Paris, Ky., Miss Clara Hannasch, followed him on his visit to his fiancée. Many embarrassing situations arose, calling forth good action and creating much merriment. Mrs. Wiggins, the landlady, Miss Edda Hested; Obadiah Stump, a fresh country product, Gaylord Short; Frances Whitaker, an athletic girl, Miss Bernice Walz; Rosalie Otis, a society girl, Miss Catherine Pfister, all played their parts exceedingly well and were always welcomed on the stage.

During the last act all complications were over and the play ended beautifully. The young people without an exception did remarkably well. Gaylord Short and Donald Robb both had difficult parts but displayed rare ability. Miss Edda Hested acted the part of a boarding house mistress like a veteran. Herman Otto was a finished young heart breaker. Eulalia Alspach played the part of a young wife with rare ingenuity. The girls all looked pretty and handled their parts skillfully.

RED CROSS ASKS AID FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

National Chairman Appeals for $500,000 to Feed and Shelter Southern Destitute.
Peter Stepany, chairman of the Red Cross chapter of Carroll county, has just received an urgent appeal from Chairman John Barton Payne, of the American Red Cross, supplemented by a special letter from President Harding for $500,000 to assist the destitute men, women and children stricken by the floods in the Mississippi valley.

Thirty-one thousand homeless are being fed by the Red Cross in the state of Mississippi alone and the first needs in Illinois, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana have already been met by an appropriation of approximately $100,000 by the National Red Cross organization, but it will require the additional sum to continue the care for the health and comfort of the stricken people in these struggling communities.

The Carroll county Red Cross chapter is requested to secure generous aid immediately from our people in behalf of these families without shelter, food or proper clothing. The local chapters and branches in the counties affected by the flood have already contributed liberally and to the extent of their resources. This contribution is meeting the first needs, but naturally is utterly inadequate in the face of such a great calamity.

The people of this county may be expected to quickly respond to this call with warm hearted generosity and with entire confidence that their money will be applied most effectively under the auspices of the Red Cross, for the purpose for which it is needed. Contributions may be sent to Leo J. Wegman, treasurer, who in turn will forward the money to the national organization.

ANGORAS ARE HIGHLY USEFUL

Animal is Disease Resistant, Thrives on Detrimental Plants and is Profitable.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The Angora goat, disease resistant, thriving on the twigs, buds and leaves of brush and other detrimental plants, and supplying excellent meat and highly useful hair and skins is still unknown to most people of this country which is one of the largest raisers of Angoras in the world. These are a few of the interesting facts brought out in a recent Farmers' Bulletin 1203, 'The Angora Goat,' published by the United States Department of Agriculture, which contains detailed information about these useful animals, from a brief history of their development down to management of goat ranches, the marketing of mohair, and the treatment of diseases.

Texas is the leading goat-raising region of the United States, having more Angoras than all other states combined. Conditions of topography, altitude, climate, and price of land have all joined to help make the ranches successful. Open-brush range, similar to that in Texas, makes the remaining part of the Southwest second in Angora ranging. Many fine orchards in the Northwest stand on land that was brushed off by the goats, and there is much land in that region that is adapted for permanent goat ranging. The Ozarks, in southern Missouri and northern Arkansas, contain many bands of Angoras and will support more on a permanent brush-utilizing basis supplemented with winter feeding. Outside the areas where there is typical goat range Angoras may be used for brush-clearing by handling them much as sheep are handled.

The bulletin may be obtained free by addressing the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

ALFALFA TEA NOT IN FAVOR

Evidence Does Not Show Any Great Advantage to Be Gained by Use of Liqueur.
Alfalfa tea, made by pouring boiling water on hay and allowing it to steep for a few hours, or by stirring alfalfa meal into cool water and straining the mixture after several hours, has been highly recommended from time to time for feeding young animals, but the evidence reviewed by the United States Department of Agriculture does not show any great advantage to be gained through the use of this liquor. Some experiment stations have found that pigs made better gains when cornmeal and middlings were mixed with alfalfa tea rather than water, but the additional gains were hardly enough to pay for the increased expense. Calves fed alfalfa tea made poor gains and suffered much from scours. On the whole, the practice of making this tea for live stock should be discouraged, says the department.

TEST OF SUNFLOWER SILAGE

Gave as Good Results as Corn in Washington—Crop Does Well in Dry Territory.
Sunflower silage fed to a flock of breeding ewes for sixty days before lambing, in feeding tests in Washington, gave as good results as corn silage, as far as condition and weight of ewes were concerned. Two lots of five lambs each were fed barley, clover and pea straw; one lot received sunflower silage and the other corn silage. The corn-silage bunch needed 442 pounds of grain, 187 pounds of pea straw and 520 pounds of corn silage to make 100 pounds of gain. The sunflower-silage bunch needed 600 pounds of grain, 310 pounds of pea straw and 811 pounds of sunflower silage for the same amount of gain. Extra grain needed by the sunflower-silage bunch was due to lack of grain in the sunflower silage, evidently. Quite a few feeders say sunflower silage is all right for sheep and cattle. One point in favor of sunflowers is their heavy yield. The crop grows well in dry sections, and in high altitudes.

PLANTING SEED IN GARDENS

Always Advisable to Use Excess Supply So That Damage to Plants is Minimized.
It is always advisable to plant an excess of seed so that the damage to each plant is minimized. The young plants, when they first come up, can be readily protected from beetles by covering with an improvised cover of wire cloth or of thin cheesecloth. This measure is particularly practical in small garden patches.

HELP EFFICIENCY OF HORSE

Numerous Inquiries Received at Missouri College of Agriculture for Hitches.
Farmers are making use of power in larger units than ever before. Numerous inquiries for three-horse hitches for wagons and five to eight-horse hitches for plows are being received by the Missouri College of Agriculture, says J. C. Wooley of the agricultural engineering department. The three-horse load will take but little more of the man's time than the two, but his efficiency has been increased 50 per cent.

Oats Best for Sows

Oats is a much better grain for sows than corn, and a mixture of about equal parts of oats and corn is better than either grain alone. Alfalfa or even clover hay will pay good returns when fed to brood sows.

Alfalfa Bad for Horses

It seems advisable judging from the results of experiment, not to feed a heavy alfalfa ration with corn to growing horses, particularly to yearlings when seeking the best possible development.

BETTER GARDENS ON FARM IS IMPORTANT

Vegetable Supply in Many Instances Is Neglected.

On Account of Scarcity of Labor Women Have Been Compelled to Spade, Plant and Cultivate Crops for Home Table.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

City or backyard gardeners have rather outdone the farmers in the past two or three years in the matter of raising good home gardens. It is true that these city gardens have been small and individually have not produced any great quantity of food, but collectively they have been of enormous importance in supplying vegetables for the families. Farmers, due to scarcity of labor, have in many instances neglected their gardens and there is need for a great awakening of interest on the part of people who live in the country in the matter of an adequate supply of fresh vegetables for their tables.

The old argument put forward by most farmers that it does not pay to putter with a garden is poorly founded. As a matter of fact, farmers who claim that they can grow an extra acre of corn or wheat and use the proceeds to buy their vegetables rarely have vegetables other than potatoes on their tables and subsist mainly on a bread and meat diet. Good home-cured pork makes fine eating, but it is much better if balanced by carrots, beets, tomatoes, cabbage and other good garden products.

In many instances the women folks have, with difficulties, spaded, planted and tended the garden. This has been an injustice and should not be expected of them. The ideal plan is to set apart a plot of ground for a garden, so arranged that it can be cultivated almost entirely with a horse, then devote a little time each week to taking care of it. If the women folks must do the work of caring for the garden, then let the men folks fertilize, plow and thoroughly prepare the land for planting and do the sowing and more laborious cultivation. There is no similar plot of ground, on the average farm in the opinion of the United States Department of Agriculture, that will yield as great returns as a good garden. In fact, 10 acres of wheat will not return as much as a half-acre garden.

COACH TO PROTEST COON RAPIDS GAME

Coon Rapids and Manning will meet to decide the protest. It has been suggested that the game be played over on neutral grounds with neutral officials.

To Intended Gas Consumers
People who are counting on using gas will greatly help along preparations for turning it on by reporting at the office and making arrangements for the service. Meters must be inspected and put in order, all connections must be put in perfect condition so that gas may reach the burner without a defect anywhere in the system. In order to have all this done, work must be begun without delay. The sooner this is done the sooner will gas be ready for use. Again we urge all intended consumers to call at the office, make the required deposit of $5 and have their appliances put in order.

There is reason for attending to this matter early and we hope that we may be able to attend to these matters without delay.
CARROLL GAS COMPANY.

The Hungarian government has several thousand acres of land to sell and is going to set up a bureau in America, where Hungarians will be able to purchase farms before returning home. The land reverted to the government when the taxes were unpaid, and it is planned to sell it to Hungarians who are now in America, whose savings average about $400 to $500 each.

Paper pulp and strawboard are now being made from oat hulls.
