Writer Tells of Best Time for Wedding

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Two out of three people in American cities above 100,000 population go to and from work by car. Only about 19 per cent journey by public transit. The rest walk.

Air conditioning is important to animals as well as people. It has been found that cows give more milk, hogs get fat quicker, and hens lay more eggs if their quarters are air conditioned.

Dental experts predict victory over tooth decay in another decade, but at present it is still probably more common than the common cold. All but two per cent of Americans suffer from it.

Once for ounce, and fact for fact, the U.S. newspaper is still perhaps the world's best bargain. Americans spend $2.2 billion yearly for daily and Sunday papers.

When is the best time to marry?—Well, young lady, if you want to avoid divorce, June is your best bet. Girls married in that month have the fewest number of divorces. However, if you marry in January, February or March, your chances of winding up with divorce are about average.

If your wife is bored with trying to decide whether to vacation at the shore or mountain, why not solve her dilemma by taking her on a big game hunting trip in Mozambique? You can both make the round trip from here for a tidy $3,750—including tips to the natives.

Quotable notables: "There's no money in poetry, but then there's no poetry in money either."—Robert Graves.

Guys who race to the refrigerator during every television commercial may be interested in the results of a medical study made in Australia. It found that men who drank 40 or more ounces of beer daily tended to have enlarged hearts. You could probably also win money by betting that a fair number of them also had enlarged stomachs.

Next on the market: A laundry bag made of a mixture of detergents and water-softening ingredients. When the bag is full, you simply toss it into the washing machine—and as the temperature hits 140 degrees the bag dissolves and goes to work on the laundry.

How fearful of violence are we? A poll by the Ladies' Home Journal disclosed that three out of five responding women said they don't feel safe walking alone at night in their own neighborhood. Three out of five also expressed the belief they "could use a weapon if their own safety was at stake."

Science apes nature but does not always beat it. An example is the light bulb. It may create more illumination than a firefly, but only 10 per cent of its energy is converted into light and 90 per cent is dissipated in the form of heat. The lamp in a firefly, however, burns at a lighting efficiency of 95 per cent.

Worth remembering: "Some guys will give you an honest day's work even if it takes them all week to do it."—Arnold Glasgow.

Men are more susceptible than women to most diseases, but diabetes is an exception. It is estimated that six out of 10 of the nation's known 2.4 million diabetics are women.

Rules Person Can Commit a Crime While Asleep

LANSING, Mich. (AP)— "This case," began an opinion by the Michigan Court of Appeals, "presents the novel question of whether a person can commit a crime while he is asleep." The court said yes.

The case involved a man who was convicted in Lansing Municipal Court for being disorderly. He was found smelling of liquor, asleep in his car at the side of a road. The defendant, in his appeal, questioned whether it was possible to be disorderly while sleeping.

Under all circumstances in this case, the opinion said, the sleep factor didn't carry any weight on the crime that was committed, but rather was further evidence to support the charge.

It added that although it was wise for the drinking man to pull over to the curb to "sleep it off," it is merely the "lesser of two evils," and the wisdom of the city ordinance is not subject to judicial review.

Becoming Bald One of Life's Little Ordeals

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— One of life's little ordeals is to become bald.

Some 40 per cent of men are afflicted to a greater or lesser degree with hereditary early baldness.

The first warning often comes from an offhand remark by a barber:

"Getting a bit thin on top, sir. I'd do something about it if I were you."

Panic seizes you at once. What can you do about it?

Every time you use your comb after that and a hair comes out it looks like the last leaf upon the tree. So you take scalp treatments, douse your skull with all kinds of tonics, rub into your scalp enough unguents and ointments to grease a battleship.

But the more you do about it, the more you worry. And the more you worry, the more you can't help noticing that your forehead is getting higher.

Sorrowfully, you are forced to admit that there are two things money can't do. It can't buy true love, and it can't grow hair on a permanently bald head—except, perhaps, by expensive surgical transplants beyond the ordinary purse.

"No practical remedy for this common baldness is available," says the Encyclopedia Britannica, which puts the chief blame on heredity, age, and the influence of male sex hormones.

The same bitter truth is embalmied in the homely old folk saying, "The best way to avoid losing falling hair is to keep it in a cigar box."

Baldness is not actually a physical handicap, or in most cases a social handicap. It is simply an emotional handicap. With his hair gone or going a fellow simply doesn't feel quite all there. But it isn't nearly as bad as losing your teeth—or your judgment.

The worst thing about it is the jests of your friends who pretend to mistake your gleaming pate for a lighthouse on sunny days or insist on calling you "Curly." A few punches to the nose, however, can cure this.

The second worst thing is to see so many dull young hippie-type men going around with such long thatches of hair dangling from their heads it's no wonder their brains are heated to a boil.

But envy never helped anybody, and it is of no help to a baldy. He must find other solaces, and they are available.

For example, he might learn to take pride in his condition. After all, many modern savants predict the whole human race will be bald in a few centuries. The baldy is merely ahead of the pack.

Also, baldness saves a man time, money and makes him look crisper and neater. Doesn't a cueball look tidier than a hairball?

The ordeal of baldness could be lessened in other respects if society itself would show a bit more kindness.

Mid-States Increases Earnings

Mid-States Enterprises, Inc., the five-year-old Carroll firm specializing in financial and leasing services, had net earnings for the fiscal year completed April 30, 1968 of $51,894, after adding $24,100 to reserves, representing an increase of 230 per cent when compared with earnings of $15,724 for the preceding year.

This was revealed by Richard W. Collison, president, in the preliminary annual report which will be mailed to all stockholders later this month.

During the year, the company's gross income from all sources was up 53 per cent to $52,235 and total assets rose almost $1,000,000 from $1,736,239 to the current level of $2,733,903.

Total operating expenses were 41 per cent higher at $478,594, but general expenses alone were held to $375,561, up 21 per cent.

Other expenses included a provision for doubtful accounts of $45,202, up 114 per cent and increased costs of borrowings from $8,797 to $57,831.
