Sixth loss in a row for Tigers

DENISON — Denison handed Carroll their sixth straight loss, 8-4, here Tuesday night in Midwest Conference action.

The Tigers, now 3-6 in conference play and 3-10 overall, host Manning at 8 p.m. tonight.

The Monarchs, now 7-3 in league play just a game out of first, jumped to a 3-0 lead in the second on two errors and doubles by Mike Jones and Brian Wellendorf.

The Tigers cut the deficit to 3-1 in the third on a single by Keith Peterson, a walk and two wild pitches.

Carroll knotted the game in the fourth on singles by Jim Molitor, Duane Onken and Keith Peterson.

Denison then went ahead for good in their fourth on a single by Jones, a walk and a wild pitch.

The winners made it 7-3 with three runs in the fifth on a double by Dan Mork, a home run by Jeff Nielsen and two walks.

Carroll's final tally came in the sixth as Molitor and Keith Peterson singled and three walks were issued by winning pitcher Dave Wiebers.

Denison added a run in the seventh on a double by Wiebers and a single by Blaine Bohlman.

"You have to give credit to Denison," Tiger boss Tim Ryan said. "They played well together and we didn't and that was the difference in the game."

Denison also won the junior varsity tilt, 12-1, as Gary King picked up the win and Tracy Buck took the loss.

Ashe, youngster fall at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Defending champion Bjorn Borg and former champion Jimmy Connors continue on their collision course today after another ex-Wimbledon champion, Arthur Ashe, and a youngster with a rosy future both crashed.

Last year, 19-year-old John McEnroe had to pre-qualify and shocked the tennis world by reaching the semifinals. This year things were different as the youngster, in only his second week as a tennis professional, lost to Erik Van Dillen, a 26-year-old Californian better known as a doubles player.

Another American teen-age star, 15-year-old Tracy Austin, also discovered how difficult life can be when you are expected to do well. She took nearly two hours, and three hard-fought sets, to overcome a relative unknown — Dianne Desfor — in her first-round match.

Top-seeded Borg of Sweden meets Peter McNamara today while second-seeded Jimmy Connors will go up against another Australian, Kim Warwick.

Van Dillen, out of the game for four months last year with a leg injury, had to pre-qualify this year. But he responded by dumping McEnroe, seeded 11th, out of the tournament after five pulsating sets, 7-5, 1-6, 8-9, 6-4, 6-3.

Austin overcame Desfor 6-1, 6-8, 6-4.

Afterwards, Austin, who has three years of high school still left and is still an amateur, said: "There is more pressure on me than a year ago, but I try not to think about it."

Unlike McEnroe, although seeded No. 9, Austin is not expected to do tremendously well.

"I would like to win a few rounds, sure," she said. "but if I play as long as Billie Jean (King), I could be coming back for 20 more years."

The pressures on McEnroe are far greater. He reached the final at Queen's Club last week in his first-ever pro tournament, and many felt he could have done even better at Wimbledon this year than he did last.

After his match, McEnroe still looked shocked at having been knocked out so early.

Steve Docherty, ranked No. 33 in the United States, upset Ashe, the 1975 Wimbledon champion, 8-9, 9-8, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5.

Otherwise Tuesday went in favor of the seeded players, including three Americans — Brian Gottfried, who downed Britain's John Lloyd 6-1, 6-8, 8-6, 6-4; Roscoe Tanner, who came from two sets down to beat Egypt's Ismael el Shafie 8-9, 1-6, 6-2, 9-7, 6-2, and Sandy Mayer, who stopped Tomas Smid of Czechoslovakia 7-5, 6-4, 6-3.

Three of the favored women contenders — defending champion Virginia Wade of Britain, Billie Jean King and Martina Navratilova, the exiled Czech — scored easy wins Tuesday.
