Kruse Paces Kuemper, 10-1

By Dennis O'Grady (Sports Editor)

Kuemper's Jeff Kruse had one of those "almost" perfect nights Thursday as the Knights made it two in a row over cross-town rival Carroll. 10-1, scoring all their runs in the first three innings.

The lanky sophomore made his first varsity pitching start, going the distance on a four-hitter, fanning nine, including five of the last six batters he faced.

Kruse, who retired the last 10 batters, had a perfect night at bat as he went three-for-three, including two runs batted in.

Bucks in Cathird's Seat for NBA Draft

NEW YORK (AP) - Some shrewd trading, plus an assist from lady luck, put the Milwaukee Bucks in the catbird's seat for today's National Basketball Association draft of college talent.

The Bucks earned the first pick in the draft by finishing with the worst record in the Western Conference, then winning a coin flip from the Kansas City Kings. The trades gave the Bucks the third and 11th picks in the first round, meaning Milwaukee is virtually assured of picking up three quality players in the

They hope those three will complete a rebuilding job begun last year, when new Coach Don Nelson worked a number of first and second-year players into the lineup. The key to the process is Kent Benson, the two-time All-American center from Indiana. The Bucks announced in April, as soon as they earned the right to pick first, that they would open the draft by picking Benson. "He's a pure center," said Rick Sund, the Bucks' chief scout, "and NBA franchises are built around centers."

And Benson is the center the Bucks want to build around. In midseason they traded their starting center, Elmore Smith, plus reserve guard Gary Brokaw, to Cleveland to get the No. 11 pick in the draft. They also traded guard Jim Price, who was not getting much playing time, to Buffalo for the No. 13 pick.

Then, after the Bucks were assured of getting Benson, they traded their starting center as of the end of the season, Swen Nater, to Buffalo for the No. 3 pick in the draft.

Thus the Bucks were able to collect two of the top three choices, as well as the 11th pick, in the draft which got under way today at noon CDT.

After the Bucks started the draft, the order of selection in the first round was Kansas City, Milwaukee, Atlanta, Phoenix, Los Angeles, New York Nets, Seattle, Denver, New York Knicks, Milwaukee, Boston, Buffalo, Washington, Los Angeles, Golden State, Washington, Golden State, Portland, Philadelphia, Denver and Los Angeles.

Among the top collegians eligible for the draft, besides Benson, were: Centers -Tom LaGarde of

of Clemson, Jell Wilkins of Illinois Wesleyan, Wilson Washington of Old Dominion and Bob Elliott of Arizona.

Forwards - Marques Johnson of UCLA, Walter Davis of North Carolina, Greg Ballard of Oregon, Cornbread Maxwell of UNC-Charlotte, Ernie Grunfeld of Tennessee, Anthony Roberts of Oral Roberts, Alonzo Bradley of Texas Southern and Bo Ellis of

Marquette. Guards - Otis Birdsong of Houston, Rickey Green of Michigan, Ray Williams of Minnesota, Norm Nixon of Minnesota, Tate Armstrong of Duke and Ed Jordan of Rut-

Six undergraduates were also eligible, including three who were likely to go high in the 10-round selection process forwards Bernard King of Tennessee and Kenny Carr of North Carolina State and guard Brad Davis of Maryland. The other three eligible undergraduates were Ray Epps of Norfolk State. James Redwine of Eastern Washington State and Ray Tatum of Malone.
