Men's CC Crown to Hunter

Jeff Hunter parred the 45th hole, while Tim Esbeck bogeyed it and that was the difference as Hunter captured the Men's Carroll Country Club championship Sunday afternoon.

Hunter, who will be a senior at Iowa State, finished with a 12 over-par 191. Esbeck was at 192.

Steve Schulz, Larry Clark and Rod Sernett finished in a tie for third at 194. Sernett led by four shots going into Sunday's 27 holes.

Times Herald, Carroll, Ia., Monday, July 18, 1977

Hunter double-dogeyed the 40th hole to let Sernett and Esbeck tie.

Hunter and Esbeck both parred the 43 and 44 holes to stay tied, but Sernett fell out when he bogeyed seven and eight.

Hunter reached the par four ninth hole in two and got down in two, but Esbeck, who was the Iowa Conference medalist this past season as a junior, took three to get on the green and two-puttied for his bogey.

Tom Reiman, last year's city champion, won the first flight. Carroll High School girls' basketball coach Don Oleson took the second flight.

Gib Johnson captured the third flight and Bill Chambers won the fourth flight. The fifth flight was won by LeRoy Vonnahme and the sandbaggers' flight was won by Bob Autenreath.

Tigers Capture 19th

MISSOURI VALLEY — Carroll gained their 19th baseball victory here against only five losses Friday night, blanking Missouri Valley, 3-0.

Tom Reiman and Todd Pettitt combined to pitch a three-hitter. Reiman went the first four innings and gave up three hits to gain his seventh win against no losses.

The Tigers are now idled until Thursday night until they will open Class AA district play at Carroll Stadium. They'll face Jefferson at 6 p.m. with Kuemper meeting Audubon at 8. The two winners will clash Saturday night at 8.

The Tigers got the only run they needed in the second when Eric Siemer reached first after being hit by a pitch. Jim Molitor then followed with a single to put Siemer at third. Molitor went to second on the throw to third.

After Mark Steffes struck out, Dan Wittrock walked to load the bases. But then Reiman struck out. With two out, Pettitt walked with the bases loaded to force in Siemer.

Carroll got two insurance runs in the seventh as Jim Petersen singled and Brad Edwards reached on an error. Both moved up to second and third on a wild pitch and came home on Siemer's single to center.

Edwards and Molitor share the batting lead for Coach Ted Edwards' squad. Both are hitting .361 for the year (26 hits in 72 at-bats).

With the loss, Missouri Valley is now 17-6 for the season.

Breaking the Hex Won't Be Easy for AL All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's best performers assembled in New York today on the eve of the 48th annual All-Star Game as the American League again sought a solution to its annual failure in the mid-season test between the two leagues.

The Nationals hold a 28-18 lead with one tie in the series that began in 1933. In addition, the NL has won five straight games and 13 of the last 14 meetings.

Breaking the hex won't be easy for AL Manager Billy Martin, who won't have four of their top pitchers — Mark Fidrych of Detroit, Frank Tanana and Nolan Ryan of California, and Vida Blue of Oakland — available to face the NL's powerful hitters.

Fidrych and Tanana pulled out of the game because of ailing shoulders and Blue withdrew because of a stiff pitching arm. Ryan was named as a replacement, but he turned down the bid, saying if he was good enough to be named to the original staff, he wouldn't participate at all. Even a personal appeal by AL President Lee MacPhail couldn't sway Ryan, and so Cleveland pitcher Dennis Eckersley was added instead.

The seven-man AL pitching staff has three starters—Eckersley, Slaton and Baltimore's Jim Palmer. Eckersley pitched Saturday, which means either Palmer or Slaton, both of whom have not worked since last Wednesday, probably will start. The other AL pitchers are bullpen specialists—Sparky Lyle of New York, Dave LaRoche of California, Jim Kern of Cleveland and Bill Campbell of Boston.

Martin's injury problems also may affect the starting lineup. First baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota, who set an all-time record with 4,292,740 votes in the fan balloting, has been nursing a bad back. Outfielders Richie Zisk of the Chicago White Sox and Carl Yastrzemski also are aching. Zisk has an ailing ankle and missed a couple of recent games. Yastrzemski missed Sunday's game because of a bruised instep.

Besides Carew, Martin's starting infield has Willie Randolph of the Yankees at second base, Rick Burleson of Boston at shortstop and Kansas City's George Brett at third base. Zisk, Yastrzemski and Reggie Jackson of the Yankees were listed as the starting outfielders with Boston's Carlton Fisk catching.

AL home run leader George Scott of Boston, and runs batted in leader Larry Hise of Minnesota, will be on the bench. They were added to the roster as reserves by Martin. The other AL reserves include Detroit first baseman Jason Thompson; third basemen Graig Nettles of the Yankees and Wayne Gross of the A's; shortstop Bert Campaneris of Texas; catchers Thurman Munson of New York and Butch Wynegar of Minnesota, and outfielders Jim Rice and Fred Lynn of Boston, Ken Singleton of Baltimore; Ruppert Jones, of Seattle and Ron Fairly of Toronto.

The American League stars will be facing a National League team weighted heavily with Cincinnati Reds. There are seven Cincinnati players on the NL squad including Manager Sparky Anderson's likely starting pitcher, Tom Seaver.

Seaver will be making his first New York appearance since his controversial trade by the New York Mets a month ago. If he starts, he will have plenty of Cincinnati company. The fans elected four Cincinnati starters—Joe Morgan at second base, Dave Concepcion at shortstop, George Foster in left field and Johnny Bench catching. And Anderson added third baseman Pete Rose and outfielder Ken Griffey as reserves.

The combined record of the NL staff is 73-29 compared to 59-49 for the American League.

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Ray Floyd, saying he was "mentally and physically drained," heaved a weary sigh.

"I hope it doesn't take as long to make the second million dollars as it did the first. Fifteen long years," he said.

Julius Boros wasn't even thinking about it. "It's been a good career," said the 57-year-old idol of golf's senior citizens. "I might just retire and go fishing."

Floyd and Boros had become the 14th and 15th golfers to reach the $1 million mark in career earnings on the pro golf tour, Floyd with a frontrunning victory Sunday in the Pleasant Valley Classic, Boros with a placing of 50th.

Floyd, who held off Jack Nicklaus' last-gasp challenge, collected $50,000 from the total purse of $250,000. Boros won $489. Floyd pushed his earnings to $1,011,005. Boros, winner of two U.S. Opens and the 1968 PGA championship, has had his goal in sight for two years. He now has $1,000,147 and may have completed a career that started in 1960.

Nicklaus, the game's all-time money winning leader with more than $3 million, was a disappointed loser. He just missed on a pitch for an eagle on the 18th hole that would have tied him with Floyd.

Nicklaus, who lost to Tom Watson by one stroke in the British Open last week, lost by the same margin to Floyd. In each case, his total score was far better than the previous tournament record.

Floyd scored his 10th career victory and second of the season with a closing 69 and a 271.

PAUL & WAYNE SKELLY SERVICE

East Hwy. 30 — Carroll

Will Grimsley's Sports World

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Once Jackie showed me a letter he got from some nut in Montgomery," remembered Pee Wee Reese. "The guy said he was going to kill Jackie. Shoot him between the eyes. 'We were warming up before the game, and Jackie was playing catch next to me. I asked Jackie to warm up somewhere else. 'The guy might be a bad shot.'"

That was Reese's way of relaxing Robinson. A little humor and a lot of friendship. Thirty years ago, Jack Roosevelt Robinson brought baseball into the 20th century. He was a pioneer who couldn't hide what he was: a black man.

The pressures on him were indescribable. Every place he went he was a freak, the only one of his kind. All eyes were on the man in the center ring—and many of those eyes were filled with hate.

Reese, a southerner who grew up with his own kind in Kentucky, was the Brooklyn Dodgers' shortstop salt shaker to second baseman Robinson's pepper pot. They were friends on the double play and in hotels—when they could get through the same door.

Reese, credited by Jackie with helping him get through the inhumanities of that first season, says that in the long run he got more from Jackie than he gave.

"Looking back on 1947, it was a little strange," said the gentlemanly Reese before today's luncheon honoring Robinson, who died in 1972. "I'm glad Jackie felt I helped him. I'm happy I can look back and say that I helped him change baseball, rather than kept him from baseball."

Reese said he got no pressure from the anti-Robinson players to join their lynch mob. "I know there was a petition to keep Jackie from playing," he said. "All I know is I didn't sign it. It didn't matter to me what color he was, I thought he had a right to play."

Reese said there were almost daily insults and taunts from the stands and the opposing dugout. "They would call him 'watermelon eater,' 'nigger' — stuff like that. And those first two years he had to accept it. Mr. (Branch) Rickey (Dodgers owner) said he had to turn the other cheek, he couldn't defend himself." Rickey called it "an amour of humility."

In the Dodgers' first series with Philadelphia in 1947, Manager Ben Chapman and his players tore into Robinson with racial slurs. The attack was so vicious that Robinson almost disregarded his pledge.

Another southerner, Eddie Stanky, helped turn off some of the heat, shouting at Chapman: "Why don't you get on somebody who can fight?"

Reese, now an executive for the Hillerich & Bradsby bat company in Louisville, Ky., was a similar buffer on many occasions.

"There were times I helped him with a look or a word," said Reese. "I guess I stepped over and put my arm around him when things were the toughest. But I never was aware of going out of my way to help Jackie out."

"That's what he said he appreciated the most, that I wasn't thinking about what I was doing. I was just being me."
